THE TICKET.

The managers of the Republican conven tion in session to-day at Turner Hall, bor rowed an idea from the Democrats who nominated in Uhrig's Cave last Friday, and surrounded the tables, where the delegates sat under pasteboard cards on sticks bearing the numbers of the wards, with a two-strand barbed wire fence to keep the crowd from pressing in on the members. The can didates with pockets full of cards promptly saw their chance, and the wire was concealed by the time the convention met with little square appeals to the delegates to vote for this or that man, stuck on every project

CHAIRMAN KALBFELL'S SPEECH.
Chairman Kalbfell addressed the convention as follows:

Chairman Kalviell addressed the convention as follows:

Under the call you are assembled in the interest of the party and of no individual interests to nominate a ticket for election at the coming election to be held on the 6th day of April. A call upon you alone now rests the responsibility, and a great one, to serve your city and the party by the nomination of a ticket in its entirety that shall first, which is all that is essential to success, command and receive the votes of the Republican party in the city, the majority party of the same. Besides this, you can anow draw from the opposition, that independent position, which looks rather to the common interests of the city than to the push, which has predominated for the selection of the Democratic ticket, the Unrig's Hall ticket. The Republican for candidates. With younder and competent men for candidates. With younder and designed the selection and the subsequent election continue to solidity the same.

Chairman Kotamy's speech was type-written, and he read it clearly. He concluded with the prediction that if the convention did its duty the Democrats would find themselves at the close of election day with the Bannerman and the Republicans with the banner. Following is the speech.

CHAIRMAN ROTANY'S SPEECH.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—For the compliment you have paid me to preside over the temporary organization of this convention, I want to express my sincere thanks.

I am sure that the duties of the position will not be onerous, as Republican conventions do not require the same drastic inchastres to keep order as the convention of the conventio CHAIRMAN KOTANY'S SPEECH. one to required.

The city is Republican by a safe majority and we are nelect our ticket, if our nominees deserve the arry's support, but the intelligent and discriminating voters of the Republican party will not indorse ticket simply because it was nominated by a party convention.

They demand honest and capable men and will have no other. I trust all of you will bear this in mind. It is essentially necessary.

I have, however, full confidence in your judgment and foresight, and I am sure that when the battle is over, it will be found that the Democrats have the Bannerman and we the banner. I now declare this over, it will be found that the Democrate have the Bannerman and we the banner. I now declare this convention reasy for business. Chairman Kalbfell then announced as Sergeant-at-Arms State Representative Judius Wurtzburger, John Mels, R. E. Lee and A. J. Wagemann.

For an hour before the convention met, the candidates, the delegates and a thou-sand spectators, black and white, surged in and out of the large saloon in front of the Turner Hail down stairs, sand spectators, make that white, galean and out of the large saloon in front of the Turner Hail down stairs, taking over the primaries. Chauncey I. Filley, who is a delegate from the Twentle th Ward and Thomas K. Niedringhaus, who was elected from the Twenty-second, did not spend much time down-stairs, but came up to the convention hall and waited there, both being surrounded continually by a group of delegates. The crowd down stairs talked with amusement or John McFall's defeat in the Twentleth, where he tried to elect a delegation without Filley on the ticket. There was just as much interest taken in the result of the Eleventh Ward contest, where Henry Besch, the most dangerous opponent of Collector Ziegenhein for a renomination, had struck a serious blow at Councilman Meler's ambition by beating his delegation. The friends of the Counciman declared that they were counted out and threatened a contest. Deputy Marshal Henry Erb, the old chum of Parson Chivington, strutted about proudly. He beat a Central Committeeman, Barney Belker, in the Second Ward by a snow fall majority and nominated his candidate for the House of Delegates. As the delegates assembled they were entertained by an alternation between beputy Coroner Rohlfing and Deputy Collector Carl Ungar, who had come to the convention in a bad temper for some reason. The deputy collector abstracted the deputy coroner's chair while he was talking on matters of State with Mr. Filley and when he got back to the platform he made an angry demand on the deputy collector for the feat. Mr. Ungar-reused.

"This isn't the Coroner's office," he said.

"No. and it isn't the Collector's office," said Mr. Rohiffing.

Mr. Rohiffing quietly took the chair. Thereupon, the confidential friend of Collector Ziegenhein made a rush at the Deputy Ceroner and shoved him from the platform to the floor. Rohiffing started to strike him as he leaped back to the platform, and then seeing that the assembling delegates were watching he restrained himself and sat down. Mr. Ungar walked about in a worried manner for some moments, conscious that he had made a blunder, and presently went out and bought moments, conscious that he had didde a blunder, and presently went out and bought some excellent cigars, one of which he sent to his antagonist as a peace-offering. Mr. Rohlfing looked around; caught Mr. Uhgar's eye and the two smiled. The breach was healed.

The Central Committee met at 10 o'clock promptly and selected as the temporary officers: Chairman, Max Kotany; Secretaries, C. H. F. Roblfing and State Representative A. G.

In calling off the list of Committees Secre-lary Robbing called all the nominees by their surnames until it came to the Twentleth Ward, when Secretary Robbing called Mr. Elley. Then he went on and called plain Seed, Kotany, etc. It caused a general mur-mur throughout the hall. Chauncy I. Filley arose and offered a reso-ution, saying: lution, saying:
"I want to send this resolution to the Committee on Resolutions for the benefit of the people of St. Louis. [Loud applause and stamping and yells.]

Mr. Filley looked around over his glasses pleased and added:
"Of whom I am one," and again there was loud applause.
The resolution follows:

The resolution follows:

Whereas, The voting franchise is a privilege granted the citizens by State law and controlled thereby, and is not an inherent right; therefore be it Resolved, That the right of every citizen to vote should be protected and to have his vote as cast counted and to prevent the voting of and on his name by any other person.

Resolved, That every State and city official who wrongfully and illegally disfranchises a citizen of his right to qualification and te vote, be he recorder, deputy recorder, revisor, repeater, stuming ballot-box judge, cierk, taily-sheet clerk of election, issuer of false returns or certificates of election, should be disfranchised by law as a penalty therefor, and inhibited holding appointive or elective office in the State.

Resolved, That every voter who barters his vote to a bribe-giver, as well as the giver, be also inhibited and disfranchised.

At the end of the first paragraph, as Mr. illev read it, there was loud applause, and r. Filley stopped reading to say emphati-

Mr. Filley stopped reading to say emphatically:

"That's for the push!"

More applause followed, and at the end Mr. Filley sat down in a tumult of approval. Evidently the delegates felt that here was the man to whom the party should look for successful management.

Anton Opperman, a delegate of the Twentleth Ward, offered the following resolutions:

Be it resolved that the Rapublican party and its candidates who are nominated at this convention will support any suitable measure which will facilitate a contrally located general wholesale and retail market place that is adequate to the wants of all producers and consumers in all agricultural and horticultal products in the city of St. Louis. horticulal products in the city of St. Louis.

*Delegate Hopper was applauded. Then Mr. Filley rose again.

*Mr. Chairman, how long will the recess have to be? Are there any confests?

*None reported, 's aid Secretary Rohlfing.

*I then move that the convention adjourn for an hour, 's aid Mr. Filley.

The motion was carried and the convention adjourned.

Many of the nominations were determined on during the recess. The tip went about circulated by active workers of Mr. Filley that the old chief wanted Ziegenhein for collector and stevenson for Comptroller and Henry Besch, targeon and all the other candidates in those offices dropped out of sight at once. For Register Joseph Wherry was fixed upon for a renomination; for Auditor Fishback, and for Marshal Thomas.

Fishback, and for Marshal Thomas.

Niedninghous for Chairman.
The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock promptly by Temporary Chairman Kotany, The committee presented their reports. Emil Becker, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials reported that the only contest before the committee had been disapproved. This was the contest from the Sixteenth Ward for the benefit of the delegation of Henry Donner-burg, who was running for the House of Delegates against Theodore Albright.

Mr. Filley was Chairman of the Committee on Organization. He reported Thomas K.

Mr. Filley was Chairman of the Committee on Organization. He reported Thomas K. Niedringhaus for Permanent Chairman, C. H. F. Rohlfing for Permanent Secretary, and State Representeive Robyn and Edward C. Rowse, the son of the chief of the Silk Stocking clan, another assistant secretary. The convention seemed to understand that Mr. Filley's recommendation of Mr. Rowse to be an officer of the convention meant something and applauded the officers as they took tneir seats.

One part of the report was intended to prevent a stampede of the convention in the mittide of a ballot. It prohibited changes of votes after the wards had once announced them.

votes after the wards had once announced them.

THE RESOLUTIONS.
The Committee on Resolutions, through its chairman, Louis Kaltwasser, reported the Filley resolution and the resolution from the Market Gardeners' Association and a resolution presented by A. W. Hoffer, demanding reform in all branches of the city government, the removal of the Push and Pull, denouncing the indiscriminate remission of fines now in practice, and jobbing in contracts and iranchises. Several resolutions not pertinent to the work of the committee were tabled. A resolution almed at the Recorder of Voters was also rejected, as the Filley resolution covered the ground. The report was adopted.

CHEERS FOR MAX ADLER.

The report was adopted.

CHEERS FOR MAX ADLER.

While the committees were reporting, there was delay, one of the secretaries not being ready, and Chairman Kotany, being inexperienced hesitated. Mr. Filley stood up and kindly suggested to him how he should proceed, thus keeping things moving along smoothly. When the resolution pledging the party to the establishment of a wholesale and retail market place there was loud applause. When the resolution indorsing the free library, the same as that adopted by the Democratic Convention was read there was enthusiastic applause, and one delegate in the back of the hall shouted:

"Hurrah for Max Adler!"

JUSTICE MIEHLERT OBJECTS.

"Hurrah for Kax Adler!"

JUSTICE MIEHLERT OBJECTS.

When Chauncy I. Filley read the report of the Committee of Rules that a committee of seven appointed by the chair should select twelve names for the Council from whom the convention should choose the six nonlnees, Justice John Miehlert objected," saying that the convention wanted no arrangement savoring of combinations and caucus dictation[like that.

Mr. Filley retorted that without such a committee there would be great confusion. Anybody could offer names to this committee. But he didn't want to see the convention turned-into a mob like the Ubrig's Hall convention. Delegate Stewart said Justice Mielert was right.

twenty-eight, one from each ward, select the Councilmen.

Ex-Congressman William H. Kinsey seconded Mr. Smith's motion.

Ashley C. clover said that as the committee of seven was to be selected by Mr. Niedringhaus, a man everybody knew was fair, the convention ought to be satisfied with the proposition of Mr. Filley's committee. "Anybody can nominate before that committee of seven," said-he. "We must beware that we do not make the mistake of Uhrig's Hall. Mr. Kinsey can tumble in six or more names of friends to that committee. Besid es, the convention is not obliged to accept the report of the committee of seven. I hope Mr. Smith will withdraw this motion and Mr. Kinsey; too."

These two gen'iemen old not respond. Mr. Clover got up and asked the chair to make it plain to the convention that the question now was between a committee of seven and a committee of twenty-eight to select the Council ticket.

To NAME THE COUNCIL TICKET.

Committee or twenty-eight to select the Council ticket.

To NAME THE COUNCIL TICRET.
The convention decided for the committee of flwenty-eight by a vote of 119 to 67. It was claimed that this showed that Filley did not control the convention.

WALBRIDGE NOMINATED.

Nominations for Mayor were then called for and Mr. Nathan Cole placed before the convention the name of Cyrus P. Walbridge. No other nominations were made and Mr. Walbridge was given the unanimous vote of the convention. The Third Ward delegates explained that they were for Ziegenhein but saw that it was useless to attempt to nominate him or anybody else except Walbridge and they would therefore Join the other wards in nominating the latter. other wards in nominating the latter.

Convention Scenes.

Recorder Carlisle was sitting up in the orner near Nathan Frank when Filley made his assault and all the delegates and spectahis assault and all the delegates and spectaors on that side of the house looked over to see how he would take it, but Mr. Carlisie had a good crop of suburban whiskers on his face and backed up by his customary self possession he only turned and smiled to Nathan Frank. After the recess was declared Tom Niedringhaus rushed up to Carlisle and said, "I told you we would do you and give you such a dressing down as you never had before." It was all irlendly bandinage, however, and Carlisle went down the line shaking hands with Billy Hobbs, Carl Unger, Charley Comfort, Ashiey Clover, Max Kotany and the rest of the front of what

For this he was arrested, and he threatened to appeal to Great Britain for protection. Feb. 18, however, when his case was called before the Advisory touncil, Kynnersley was very mild, and humbly apologized, and took the oath of loyalty to the new government. McMurray-Judge Architectural Co. which was made yesterday, Mr. Leverett Bell appeared in Judge Fisher's court this morninfi to have the bond of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. assignee approved. It was stated that the trust company had 200,000 deposited with the Superintendant of Insurance as a guarantee fund for the aithful performance of its duties in a nductary capacity. Judge Fisher said that as the assets of the assigned firm amounted to $140,000 the entire amount deposited with the Superintendent of Insurance by the Trust company was not double that of the assets of this one firm, and the probabilities were that the Trust company was already on bonds for five times that amount. He thought that the Court should exercise its own discretion in approving bonds in cases of this kind.

Mr. Bell claimed that under the law of 1891.

Mr. Bell claimed that under the law of 1891, creating these trust companies, the court was bound to accept a company on its own bond except in cases where the court of its own motion appointed it to act as trustee or otherwise.

Mr. Bell said that Mr. Breck Jones, the Secretary of the trust company, was in court and could show that it had $700,000 or $800,000 in available funds.

The court, however, refused to accept the company on its own bond until he had considered the matter, and accordingly laid-it over until 20 clock.

At 20 clock Judge Fisher said ke had examined the statute and concluded that it was discretionary with the court whether to require a bond. He would therefore exact a bond unless the trust company could show him that it was perfectly solvent.

Mr. Bell said they would do this later.

Caustic Review of Judge Phillips' Decison in the Bond Cases.

GUARDIANS OF THE PEOPLE.

The Lower House Adopts the Resolution Asking Congress to Restrict the Pow Beer Inspection Measure - Railway Passes.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 7.-Since Triof Missouri announced his decision in the case of the St. Clair County Judges, Gov. Stone has been giving the points of the opinion some close attention.
Upito this morning he declined to make any statement bearing on the decision. This morning, however, he gave out a lengthy statement on the subject. Among other things he says that there is no personal controversy between Judge Phillips and himself, and that the Judge had repudiated an interview published in a Kansas City paper criticising the Executive. Continuing, the Governor says that he has gone over the decision thoroughly and, while he considers it a carefully written document, he does not agree with the court in some of its conclusions. The Governor makes the point that he has no desire to discuss the validity of the St. Clair County debt. This question, he says, is only collaterally allied to it.

After a thorough review of the enactments made by the Federal courts in State matters, the Governor, in pointed language, corrects the claim that he is trying to defy the Federal courts. In conclusion the Governor from Mr. Thomas Skinker, who has made much, both of money and reputation, as a lawyer engaged in prosecuting these bond suits against Missouri counties, in which he advised the General Assembly to wholly disregard my recommendation that Congress be memorialized to put some restraint upon the federal judiciary. Asto that the Legislature can take its own course. It can follow Mr. Esinker's advice if it sees proper. But the gentlemen of the assembly need not be frightened by the ghost which my friend, Mr. Skinker, calls up out of an ancient chapter of congressional history. Congress will not pass any law authorizing federal officers to levy and collect taxes on the property of our people to pay the judgments of Federal Courts. Members of the Lower House of Congress are elected every two years, They are fresh from the people and their responsibility to them is direct. I have no fear of that. The attempt to which Mr. Skinker alluded proved abortive even in that day, it cannot be done now. But in any event is not thut better than to put our own officers between Scylla and Charybdis and thus embarras the conduct of our ordinary public business,

What then shall the Federal Courts do?

The conduct of our ordinary public business,
What then shall the Federal Courts do?
They cry since they have no machinery of their own, they must ex-necessitate imprison the ministerial officers of the State, so they say, or else their judgments are not effective.
Very good; then go back to the old rul, which prevailed in the better days of the republic, when the soirit, as well as republic, when the spirit, as well as the letter of the constitution was observed, and when State sovereignty—sovereign within its proper sphere—was something more than a shallow pretense or a mocking dream. Do that and these hateful and menacing conflicts in jurisdiction will disappear.

dream. Bo that and these hateful and menacing conflicts in jurisdiction will disappear.

"I am quite sure that the just rights of the citizens are as safe in the hands of the State as of the Federal judiciary. I think Judge Phillips was equally as just as a judge when he sat ou the State appellate bench at Kansas City as he is now while adorning the bench of the Federal District Court. Hence I regret that he has seen proper to quote approvingly the insuit which a Justice of the Supreme Court leveled at the State judiciary in the case of Gehpekews. City of Dubuque, when he said: "We shall never immoiate truth, justice and the law because a State tribunal has erected the aitar and decreed the sacrifice." Associate Justice Milier, that grand old man, from the bench resented the insuit at the time as I do now. "State tribunal, indeed! Since when and by whom were the federal courts made the special guardians of the rights of the people? I think it safe to say that courts holding such contemptuous views of State authority, are dangerous tribunals to clothe with power to override and destroy that authority."

TO RESTRICT FEDERAL COURTS.

Fy a strict party vote the joint and concurrent resolution memoralizing Congress to enact a law to so restrict the powers of Federal Courts to prevent them from interfering in such State matters as that of the St. Clair County Judges, was passed to-day by the House. This resolution is in accord with the suggestion of Gov. Stone in his special message.

The pharmacists' bill creating a State Board was this afternoon reconsidered and passed in the House.

The bill was reported favorably by Chairman Fogle yesterday afternoon and, with little discussion, it was sent to engrossment. The committee then carried through a motion making it the special order for this evening. The passage of the bill will, it is expected, result in more complications, as lawyers generally claim that under his decision Judge Phillips of the Federal Court for the Western District of the State will go right on committing ludges, permanent and temporary, for refusing to order the assessment demanded by the bondholders and which they insist on getting under the decision of the court of last ployes, United Association has become exceedingly discouraged. All the bills have been killed off with the single exception of the two omnibus measure pending respectively in the House and Senate. The bill which the railroad employes particularly desired, taking in the employes particularly desired, taking in the House last week. This proceeding disgusted Chairman Hart and Vice-Chairman Pilkington, representing the employes. They had expected that Cols. Carroll and Phelps would not be able to catch the House as they had expected that Cols. Carroll and Phelps would not be able to catch the House as they had the Senate. The Senate, like the House, loaded down the bill in such shape as to take in miners, mechanics and all other persons engaged in dangerous employments, though the railroad men were the only class of work men who asked for such legislation. Yet the railroad lobby is not satisfied. It is still camped here, working to defeat the bill, which will come up in a day or two in both branches tor passage or defeat. Committeeman Pilkington said to-day that he was not as confident as he would like to feel. "The bills are in such shape now." he said. "that I fear the railroad employes will get mothing. We are right in the matter, but the other side has the pull." The four sections of the House bill in its amended and reamended shape read as follows:

Be it canacted by the General Assembly of the State of Misseuri, as follows:

PHARMACY BILL DEFFATED.

The bill for the creation of a State Board of Pharmacy to regulate and control the issuance of licenses to drugstores was defeated in the House late yesterday afternoon, falling short of passage by three votes. The bill was introduced by Representative Gernez of St. Louis at the request of the State Pharmaceutical Association, which for years has been trying to have adopted a system to compel the pharmacists to register and submit to regulation. As it is now, the claim is made that a mumber of durg store owners, particularly in the country, are ignorant of pharmacy and run their stores mainly to sell villainous whisky. The bill caused a spirited debate before it was voted down. When nine of the fifteen members from St. Louis who are down there trying to run polities return the pharmacists will work for a reconsideration. The only St. Louis members in the seats yesterday were Paschall, Maune, Tatum, Bond. Drabelle and Gernez, and the last named left last night to attend the Republican City Convention. The bulk of the support given the bill has come from St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph.

PASSE THE EXCISED BILL.

The bill creating the office of Excise Commissioner has passed the Senate and. Is now in the House. The bill applies to St. Louis and gives to the Excise Commissioner the power in the matter of saloon licenses now held by the City Collector. The Commissioner is to have a deputy and a clerk, and has full-authority to issue or refuse a license to open and conduct a saloon. The salary of the office is fixed at 3,000 per year.

FREE FASSES.

The session of the House opened this morning with an animated discussion precipitated by a resolution offered by Representative Killam of Lincoin County, referring to articles in several newspapers charging the members with having accepted free passes from the railroads. The resolution called for the appointment of an investigating committee with full power to send for persons and papers. A shower of amendments came from all parts of the hall with the object of loading it down and killing off the proposed investigation. An hour was spent in wrangle and confusion following which the resolution was laid over until to-morrow.

THAT BEER INSPECTION BILL.

As has been announced in the Post-Disparch the beer inspection bill has passed the House and is now in the Senate, where its champions also expect to pass it. The bill provides only for the inspection of beer brewed in the State, and this fact is used as an argument against it. Outside brewerles ship and sell large quantities of their products in Missouri, and the claim is made that the passage of the inspection bill will work a hardship to State enterprises and give the outsiders an advantage. The bill, if passed, will materially swell the funds for the purposes of building roads and highways. The full text or the bill is as follows:

Sec. 1. There shall be appointed by the Gov-The eastern 500 acres of the Bi north of the city limits, on the line of the C., B. & Q. R. R., for $260,000, or $57 ways. The full text of the bill is as follows:

Sec. 2. said inspector shall appoint such deputies, with the approval of the Governor, as may be required to carry out the provisions of this act, not to exceed four in number. Said deputies shall receive for their services the sum of $1,500 per annum, and said inspector shall receive the sum of $3,000 per annum—all salaries and expenses to be paid out of the fees collected for the inspection of beer and malt liquors under the provisions of this act.

CASTILLO COUMO SHOT. A Mafia Member Who Bluffed Once Too

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 7 .- Savannah's only epresentative of the bloodthirsty society of ana was shot down in the market yesterday by one of his enemies, an outraged fellow countryman who acted in defense of his own life, Castillo Coumo is the Mafia member's name, and he was shot by Tony Esposito one of the marketmen. According to the ment of a number of Italians, Coumo is member of the Mafia and a dreaded char acter. He has repeatedly assaulted Italians in this city and there are now two warrants up to a fellow countryman and, after cursing him in a manner most foul, to slap him in the face, and then put a pistol under his nose and dare him to resent his insult. He was feared by almost every Italian and when around had things his own way, as no one had the courage to resist his violent attack. when he approached Esposito and began to curse him the latter drew his pistol and shot him. Esposito says it was only a question of who could shoot first, and he was tired of being builted by the man longer and was determined to resent any further insults offered CROOKED BOOK-KEEPING.

The report declares that of the $240,000 of the State's fund on deposit when the crash came it was apparent that little if any could be recovered. In the tabulated statements su bmitted by the committee, showing the manner in which the books were manipulated, a deposit silp of December, 1889, for $50,000 is placed on the books as $100. A similar silp in December, 1890, for $40,000 appears on the books as $100. All the way through this style of book-keeping is shown. What this means or who is involved in the crookedness the committee is unable to determine. The examination will be continued.

The whipping was done with hickory switches and was horribly brutal. While it was progressing the women and children of their families were required to come out and view the spectacle. Maryland, Oates of Alabama and Warner of New York.

The great bulk of the visitors were Democrats, of course, but there were a number of Republicans in the throng, among them Senator Mitchell with a party of gentleman from Oregon; Senator Manderson with several ladies and gentlemen from Nebraska, and Congressman O'Neill and Dalzell of Massachusetts. Another caller was Charles H. J. Taylor of Kansas City, Mo., ex-Minister to Liberta, who is after the scalp of ex-Senator Bruce of Mississipi, the Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia.

Congressman Rockwell, Senator Hill's great friend, was also numbered among the elect who were admitted to the President's room. Mr. Cleveland was so busy receiving callers in his office that he did not go down-stairs to see the hundreds of people who were waiting for him in the east room. The room became so crowded and the crowd outside waiting admittance was so great that the east room was cleared and a line formed so that a person might pass in and out and thus have an opportunity of seeing the apartments. Fully 5,000 people went to the White House.

futility of the conference, and the necessity of action by the United states. Our first act should be the early unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, which blocks our return to free bi-metalic coinage with futile silver purchases and a new greenback inflation, both of which are a scandal and a shame. "There are domestic reasons for repeal, all sufficient, and the steady extension of gold is teaching that lesson daily. There are international reasons for repeal of the Sherman law, too, and Mr. Gladstone lights them up for us with a Bengal fire. I say Bengal fre because the repeal of the Sherman law by the United States will make the gold and silver question for Great Britain a question of the peace, if not the preservation, of her Indian Empire. Secretary Carlisie has not committed himself as to his views beyond expressing his determination to prevent a financial panic by any means that lie in his power. The question of means that lie in his power. The question of issuing bonds will probably receive the consideration of the President and his official family at the first Cabinet meeting, which is expected to occur to-morrow.

The Democrats are divided as to the necessity of preserving the gold reserve fund intact. Mr. Bland voiced the sentiment of the free silver people when he asserted that there was no necessity to keep the fold reserve fund intact. The "sound-money" Democrats of the East, however, do not agree with Mr. Bland in his view of the case. They think the reserve fund marks the financial danger line. There is no doubt that if the Treasury Department decides to issue bonds the steps could be taken without loss of time, owing to the preliminary arrangements Secretary Foster made some weeks ago. He had $50,000,000 of bonds practically placed with Drexel, Morgan & Co. in England. Mr. Harrison's opposition to the issuing of bonds compelled Mr. Foster to allow the matter to remain in abeyance. In this connection the question of the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act arises for consideration. It is not believed that this question will influence the calling of an extra session will be called for October for the purpose of passing only a judicious tariff bill

It wants all the good places in New York that Mr. Cleveland will dispose In New York that Mr. Cleveland will dispose of. New Jersey wahts a first-class mission. Connecticut wants much, as it has stood by Cleveland stanchly. For this reason anything n reason that Connecticut may want is likely to be granted. California leads the van in the number of candidates for high places. B. F. Delivall of Los Angeles is a candidate for this post are Isaac P. Gray Indiana, and Kilgore of Texas and ex-Gov, Crittenden of Missouri, R. Hudson of San Francisco wants to be Consul to Havre. Three Californians would like the Japanese mission. They are Frank Gould, Frank McCoppin and J. J. Dwyer. The three gentlemen will probably reach some compromise and hand in the name of one for the office. McCoppin is believed to be the fortunate man. John P. Irish, also of California, is a candidate for Commissioner the Land Office.

THE DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY. Washington, D. C., March 7.—The present roll call of the Senate shows 44 Democrats, 38 Republicans, 1 Populist, 1 Independent and Farmers' Alliance and 3 vacancies. The vacancles are one each in Montana. Washing on and Wyoming. Should Republicans eventually fill all of these vacancies, which can scarcely be the case in view with's appointment in Wyoming, it would with a appointment in wyoming, it would give them 41. Should the third party Senators then all vote with the Republicans (a most unlikely supposition) the Senate would still be a tie, with Vice-President Stevenson holding the controlling vote. The composition of the House, as shown by unofficial returns, its: Democrats, 217; Republicans, 128; Third party, 8, and vacancies, 2. The Democrats thus have a majority of 80 over all.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Fuller did not arrive here from Washington in time to see their daughter alive, their train being delayed. The physicians in attendance did everything in their power to save their patient's life, or at least to prolong it until the arrival of her parents, but their efforts were futile. The death of Mrs. Brown will be a great shock to those who knew her both here and in Washington, where before her marriage she was a social leader. She was about 28 years of age. Her wedding which took place at the capital two years ago was perhaps the greatest social event of the season.

IF Mr. Sherman's proposed amendment to the Constitution extending the presidential term to April 30 should be adopted there will be a clear Democratic gain of nearly a month. Mr. Sherman is expecting a good deal of his Republican fellowstatesmen when he asks them to vote for such a change after what has so recently happened. They have been imagining that they have only four years to wait.

ENGLAND has learned much from America in the political line and sentiment in that country is more than ever in favor of taking up our ideas and adapting them to British conditions. While they are about it they could with profit learn something from us about good manners in politics. The hissing of Mr. Gladstone by a mob of young Conservatives and the encounter between two members of Parliament have few parallels in our history. But the two incidents show that Democracy does not contain all or the most of the ruffianism in the world.

THE NATIONAL HEALTH.

President Cleveland touched upon a gen eral failing of the Americans, and one that is a source of danger, when he said in his inaugural address: "It cannot be doubted that our stupendous achievements as a people and our country's robust strength have given rise to a heedlessness of those laws governing our national health, which we can no more evade than human life can escape the laws of God and nature."

The bulwark of custom which obstructs all change in Europe is not much more inpenetrable than the wall of indifference which confronts reform movements in the United States. This mert indifference to abuses, wrongs, dangers in politics is one of the first and strongest impressions made upon keen observers who look beneath the surface of American life. It has a two-fold cause—a sense of free political power to act when necessary and a strong faith in the strength and high destiny of the nation. What we have done and what we feel we can do are regarded as sufficient proof of security and sufficient grounds for unvarying progress. There is no more common and potent answer to warnings of danger than references to past achievements, present apparent prosperity and the vast resources of the country.

Our very strength therefore is in a certain sense a weakness and a source of danger in that it makes us slow to heed the beginning and the growth of evils. The shoe must pinch before we note its faults and the pains must be felt before we regard disease. Our politics are full of examples of the results of popular indifference to abuses.

One of the best elements of Mr. Cleveland's service as a public man has been his persistence in calling attention to the necessity of guarding against evil tendenprize ring as a kindergarten to the stage is cies and of clinging to sound principle and tice regar The best service that any American can "Efficiency" is the watchword at render to his people is to endeavor to Washington now, and the applicant for arouse and keep alive an intelligent appreciation of the drift of politics, a fear of bad beginnings and that constant vigilance which is the only safeguard of national health.

NO CHEAP TELEPHONES.

Although the main patent held by the Bell Telephone Co. expires next May it is by no means certain that the monopoly will be broken. By a shrewd manipulation of the Patent Office the privileges which the company has enjoyed for seventeen years are likely to be renewed. Should this happen, and there seems to be no help for it, we must suffer extortion for another erm of fourteen years.

In June, 1877, Emil Berliner made application for a patent on what was known as the make-and-break circuit for telephones. The principle has since been shown to be impracticable, but the Bell company pursuing its usual policy bought the inventor's right. Then followed a curious transformation in the specifications of the Berliner device. The papers were changed little by little as years went by, care being taken to postpone the issue of the patent by litigation instituted by the Bell people against themselves. At the end of fourteen years the litigation was dropped and the patent was granted, but it was discovered that the device as described in the final specifications differed in every respect from the original Berliner model, which from the Patent Office. The so-called Berliner instrument is essentially the same as Ill now be more than ever disgusted that now used by the Bell company and as the patent does not expire until 1908, it will be seen that a very neat but discreditable game has been played upon the

Although proceedings have been instituted to annul this patent there is little hope that they will come to a head for several years. THE WRONG DIRECTION.

Senator Sherman has taken the wrong direction in his proposed amendment to the Constitution altering the closing date of the term of the President, Vice-President and members of Congress to April 30 Instead of making the date later than at present it should be made much earlier.

All the lessons of experience suggest the reduction of the time between the election and the entering into office of a new ad ministration. It should be reduced to the lowest period of time compatible with the proper winding up of the business of the outgoing administration. We should then be spared the spectacle we have witnessed for the past three months of a discredited President and Congress merely dallying with public business to kill the time be tween the election and the inauguration and standing in the way of the official chosen by the people to carry out their will. We should be spared the sight of a President attempting to fill the offices with representatives of his party when that party has been defeated at the polls. We should be spared the effort of an administration to carry out policies in direct opposition to the will of the people. Several months of the working terms of the late President and Congress were practically lost because they were conscious that they did not represent the people and could not properly inaugurate and carry through any policy of importance. That part of their work outside of the routine which was not a farce was an offense to the people. The sensible plan would be to have the change in national administrations take place on the 1st of January following the election, as in most of the States. The principles and policies indorsed by the people would then be put into prompt execution.

PERHAPS it would be well to consider the petition of the women for the privilege of serving on the school boards Women are in closer touch with the schools than men and have as a rule warmer interest in them. In this city particularly the efforts of the men to regulate school affairs have generally failed and to take the women into partnership could not well result in worse and might bring better conditions. In many cities women school directors have been tried with eminent success. There are some features of school management in which their services are of great value, and in which it is reasonable to expect better work from them than from men. The experiment of permitting them to vote in school elections has been tried with success in places where there was an earnest and widespread demand for the privilege among the women themselves. JUDGE EDMUNDS has again demonstrated his usefulness on the criminal bench by calling the attention of the Grand-jury to violations of the primary and general election laws. This is a wise and needful step. The indifference of the authorities to their violation has brought these laws the notion they may be disregarded with impunity. Thorough investigation into the conduct of the primarles and elections with a rigid enforcement of the laws concerning them would be of incalculable benefit to the people. It would afford a better basis for nearly all other desirable reforms in the public service.

THE determination of the President not o call an extra session of Congress is no doubt dictated by practical considerations, but it is unfortunate that the political situation is such that the reform work cannot be immediately entered upon. The injection of the silver question so complicates conditions that in the judgment of the President and his advisers any real progressive legislation would probably be imossible during the summer months and night cause dissensions fatal to party inegrity. No doubt no one is more disappointed than Mr. Cleveland himself.

THE few remaining friends of the Columbiin stamp, s may point to the fact that a man has been arrested for stealing some of them. If they are as unwieldy as they have be epresented to be, it is hard to believe that any one would attempt to carry them away. ossibly, however, their size betrayed the nan who has been arrested.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: It would not do for all of us to be rich. Bu would most certainly do for each human to be supplied with steady work at such that want and destitution would wages that want and destitution would never be felt. It would do to have such an industrial system that capital would be at the call of labor instead of vice versa. I take issue with the statement that we need more workmen in every department. We need more work and better wages for those already in the field. Think of a widow working sixteen hours per day and then not earning enough to buy fuel and food for her little ones. Think, as you read the words penned by her dying hand:

Why these sinless ones doomed to this lingering death? Sixteen hours a day to get sufficient to barely keep this miserable life. I die of want."

die of want."

This sewing woman's agonized cry, published months ago in the Sentinet, is but one of the millions. Not long ago a colored girl came to me begging, "a haif loaf of bread and some milk for a sick white woman that is starving." My mother and I hurriedly collected such things as were available. Then she mustered courage enough to say that the sufferer was a social outcast. Poor child! She had told that to others, whom the words had turned back and feared that we, too, would refuse. We found a most pittable case. Miss S. was thrown on her own resources. Finally she came to this her own resources. Finally she came to this city to work. Long intervals of idleness, broken by short periods of work and low wages—at last, sickness, desperation, prostitution. To escape this she accepted the protection of a soldier, who deserted her when she became bedfast.

When the coffin closed over my own little one recently the only comfort in my bitter affliction was that in death my boy would never lie starving beside a dying woman because a false industrial system had refused work to his mother.

Look at the bright side; but don't forget the dars. The bright side of it all is that there is a remedy. Join hands and let us apply it. Give work to the willing—yes, desperate—workers. Tax idle land so highly that its owner can not afford to hold it vacant. Give labor a chance to put it to a profitable use and the problem is solved.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: "Common Sense" in asserting that "it to ot true that this is a land of paupers and tramps' exhibits a profound ignorance of the real state of things in this country. I would like him to show me a city or town in all this broad land that is free from paupers and where tramps are unknown. He certainly would not find such a place in my own State of Pennsylvania. Tell me why it is, if "we want more workingmen in every department in life," that thousands of workingmen and women in this country are to-day without employment, though they beg for it? I fully agree that "we should do our whole duty and leave the result to God," but it is not our duty to allow ourselves to be robbed without a word of protest, and it can never be God's will that a few of his children should possess unlimited wealth while the great majority toll for a bare living, or actually starve in the midst of abundance. Our "duty to our children and future generations" demands that we should work here and now to stop such injustice.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 7 .- Dr. Theick, who has just arrived here from Santo Domingo, escaped assassination there by leaping from a rear window of his house and hiding in the shrubbery, after his wife and servants had been killed by soldiers. A few days ago President Heureaux discovered what he announced was a conspiracy against him, with which many leaders of the Domin icon capital were alleged to be connected. President Heureaux ordered that all the leaders of the conspiracy be arrested and shot. Soldiers were sent to surround the residences of all the suspected. DRILL MANUAL FOR AMAZONS. "Do you know that in our Amazonian dril we have to very considerably vary the move-ments prescribed in the manual of arms?" remarked the stage manager of a theatricacompany while supervising a rehearsal.
"Take the plays, and they are with rifles. Should the rifles be brought to a carry by being rested against the hip and shoulder, as is done by soldiers, the result would be anything but satisfactory, for as women have broader hips and narrower shoulders than men the guns would be all aslant. We have to teach them to hold the stock forward of the hips, and it is difficult to prevent a backward slant of the piece, but this is not readily perceptible. When a like of women assume the 'position of the soldier' we have to make another innovation in the tactics. The regulations prescribe that the soldiers should touch knees, but the Amazons have to touch hips. Drilling Amazons requires not a little ingenuity." remarked the stage manager of a theatrica-

Dr. Currier of New York has conducted a series of experiments that are decidedly unfavorable to the virtues of infiltration. He states that harmful hacteria can pass through carbon filters and under favorable conditions can even increase in them. Sponge filters are even worse, as within twenty-four hours after sterilization they may cause the development of 500 times as many bacteria as were found in the unfiltered water. An experiment was made with artificial water filtered through sand and charcoal and the sediment thus removed. A microscopic examination showed made with arthur and the sedim removed. A microscopic examination that a cubic continueter of the water contained 8,300 bacteria, equal amount of water taken from boring hydrant avaraged only 450.

TOM ALLEN'S OPINION.

Tom Allen, the veteran ex-champion, who was behind Smith, says that the fight was fairly won. He had picked Smith be-fore the fight because he knew that the man fore the fight because he knew that the man was clever and had a great right and felt that Goddard could be defeated if he was fought properly. There was no use in standoff and exchanging blows with the giant and there is no law to make a man fight Goddard that way. He told Smith to get his head into Goddard's body if he could and to stick close all the time. He expected that Goddard would whip himself in time and Smith's right could do the rest. Smith followed instructions and won the fight. The Smith party was jubliant and claimed that their man was a puglist of the first-class on his merits. He had been neglecting himself and had lost fights by going into the ring without training, but had learned a lesson and would profit by it.

BAT MASTERSON'S GUN.

BAT MASTERSON'S GUN. "
"Did Bat Masterson win the fight?" was the significant query of a well-known local sport this morning, as a crowd of the dead game contingent discussed the result of the Goddard Smith contest. "I think," went on the speaker, answering his own question, "that he did. Just recall the dispatch that came up from New Orleans last week, in which Bat s quoted as saying that he knew Smith had a yellow streak in him, but that he would take the gaff if there was anybody in his corner to make him fight. Well, Bat went in his corner all right Friday night, and it's reasonable to suppose that some great pressure was bearing on Smith to make him take the awful punch-ing he got, for its not a bit in his line. I'll bet a quart just now that Bat and his gun played star parts in that game."

FIGHTERS FROM ALL CLIMES. "This country," said George Abingdon Baird, Charley Mitchell's backer, when in this city last week, "offers such large in-ducements for fighters that England and Australia have become depleted of boxers. Aside from Mitchell, Ted Pritchard was the best man at his weight in the old country and I really expected him to whip Hall. Jim is a fighter, though, and poor Ted stood little chance to win from him. He is a good, stiff chance to win from him. He is a good, stiff puncher, deucedly clever with his head and hands and as shifty a man on his feet as ever I saw in a ring. Of course, I don't know much about Fitzsimmons except from what I have read in the papers, but he's got to be more than extraordinarily good to beat Hall. I shall back Hall heavily to win the fight."

In speaking of a possible match between Stanton Abbott of England and Champion Jack McAuliffe, the 'Squire said that Abbott would be very foolish to look for a match, as he would not stand a ghost of a show in the ring with McAuliffe, who was cleverer, stronger and a better fighter in every way than the Englishman.

Another susseless suggestion regards the scoring no time at bat in case of a sacrifice hit.

The Rules Committee will go into the meeting with five sure supporters. Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Baltimore are represented on the committee. The Washington Club is thater the spell of Editor Richter who is a trifle rabid in his advocacy of changes, and Louisville will vote with them. Robinson of Cleveland is likely to vote with his friend Brush of Cincinnati, and that leaves Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburg for the opposition, with the willy von der Ahe on the fence. He has declared himself as opposed to innovations but in so conservative a manner that he can vote whatever way he pleases without stuiffying himself.

If Harry Holland, well known in Chicago, will accept the place, he will be the new Secretary and Treasurer of the Garfield Park Club next summer. It is the intention of the management for run a sixty-day meeting of high class. There will be less friction between local tracks, and perhaps an arrangement by which they may not conflict. YOU KNOW

That we have more than doubled our output of custom shirts up to date this year. How did we force this increase of patronage? By not permitting people to instruct us how to make shirts; but by carry-ing out our own ideas about shirt making and trying on a shirt from every order until it suits us, then if it does not suit the customer don't annoy him by telling him it fits. But let him leave you feeling friendly towards you. We would not take your money if we could not suit you.

50 Cigar on the Market.

Of all men to be pitted most
Is he who cannot win nor rain;
Vain is his every piedge and bosst—
He sows, but may not reap his grain.
His wife and little ones are near
To stir his pulse to keener strife;
And yet he sees, from year to year,
How hard to pluck success in life.

He looks around, no friendly sign Invites him where to seek for aid; White drowning no one throws a line And so he shrinks back—more afraid But—stay—one hand outstretched and Withholds him from the fatal flood; The time seems all too sad and long Until he gains new heart and blood.

This is no friend, nor brother, quite— But just a fellow-being kind, Who has the courage to do right And keep his fellow-man in mind, MeNiehol's doer is open wide To all who faiter by the way; Whate'er you you need just smother pride And learn an easy mode of pay.

McNichol's goods are cheapest—best
For every purpose round your hearth;
At debt you'lle'en laugh and jest
And feel you own a right to mirth,
Because—however light your purse;
If money is not there agail;
A thousand times might things be worse—
For Mac you have in easy call.

And everyone knows by this time what that means: Credit, long time to pay in and the lowest prices for everything needed in your house or rooms. Do not wait for wealth, see [Trade Mark.] THE ONLY M'NICHOL, 1015-1022-1024 Markets P. S.—There will be no trouble, and need be no fear or hanging back. Thousands buy in this way. A Second-Class Ticket Holder Canno Ride in a Pullman Car.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 7 .- The Appellate Court has handed down an opinion of some interest in the case of the Pullman Palace Car Co. vs. Lee. Lee purchased a second-class passenger ticket on the Pennsylvania Railroad and then paid for and was assigned the arrangement between the railroad company and the Pullman company was that the pany and the Pullman company was that the latter should furnish accommodations only to the holders of first-class tickets over the railroad. In this case the sleeping car berth was sold through an oversight, and when the error was discovered a tender was made to Lee of the money he had paid for the berth. He refused to accept it or to pay for a first-class railroad ticket and was ejected. He brought suit in the Cumberland Circuit Court for damages and was awarded $200. WILSON BARRETT IN CLAUDIAN. Strong Play Excellently Handled at the DAILY AND SUNDAY, 15 CENTS A WEEK.

Last night Wilson Barrett appeared at the Grand Opera-house in the character of Mr. Barrett when in this city two years ago made a host of friends, and from reception he received last night is evident that he will very years ago made a host of friends, and from the reception he received last night it is evident that he will very largely increase the list. The plot of "Claudian" is a strong one. It tells the story of a ruthless, brutal nobleman, accustomed to trample down all who come in his way, who is cursed by a hermit whom he has murdered in order to obtain possession of a girl who had fied from him. He is given eternal youth, but every person whom he tries to aid is doomed to destruction. As soon as the curse is pronounced Claudian's nature changes.

He becomes kindly and tender hearted, and is continually endeavoring to aid the unfortunate, but the inevitable result is that their griefs and misfortunes are increased. Finally he falls in love with Almida, and his affection is returned, but an earthquake destroys his paiace and ail in it, and leaves him alone. The spirit of the hermit then appears and offers him the boon of death. He is about to accept it joyfully when Almida appears with her love for him undiminished. He hesitates a moment, but then welcomes death as a release. The scene is laid in Byzantium and Charydos, the play opening in the year $26, and 100 years intervene between the first and second act.

In the character of Claudian Mr. Barrett shows to great advantage, and proves himself to be a true artist. The contrast between the tyrannical, heartless noble, and the man who longed to aid all with whom he came in contact, but whose efforts only increased the evil, was most strongly drawn.
In the last character Mr. Barrett shows to great advantage, than in the first.
The agonies that he suffered, worse than the tortures of the Wandering Jew, whose footsteps were followed by the cholera, were most vividly depicted. The most salient characteristic of Mr. Barrett's acting is its manilness. He is essentially ylirie in all his methods, which does not prevent him from playing the lover in a most refined and exquisitely tender manner. The supporting company is strong and singularly even, the min

the time of Charlemagne.

Robert Mantell will appear at the Olympic on Sunday next in his new play, "The Face in the Moonlight." The scene is laid in France during the Hundred Days.

A murder is committed at a diligence station, and a young woman who is an involuntary witness of the affair sees in the moonlight the face of the murderer, which re-tion, and a young woman who is an involuntary witness of the affair sees in the moonlight the face of the murderer, which resembles that of her affanced husband, victor Ambrose, so closely that she cannot rid herself of the idea that the two are one and the same. The murderer is in fact the half-brother of her lover, one kabat, a criminal of desperate character, while Ambrose is an officer in the army and a young man of unimpeachable character.

Mr. Mantell plays both characters. He represents Rabat as a braggart, a man without heart or kindness, profoundly selfish, and putting love of drink even before desire for vengeance; full of bluster and animal courage, ready to deceive friends if necessary to aid himself, cunning when in difficulties and an excellent type of the criminal classes of the French novelist. Victor Ambrose, on the contrary, is a man full of force and easy dignity, and hardly is Rabat out of sight before Ambrose strolls on easy and self-possessed.

battered face, and James Bodeley, a full grown colored man, were in the Second Dis-trict Police Court charged with disturbing grown colored man, were in the Second District Police Court charged with disturbing the peace. The boy Turner was very glib in his accounts. He said that Bodeley wanted him to tell who the man was who visiting his wife, and when he would not till Bodeley picked up a weight used on the grocery scales and beat him over the face. Bodeley, who seemed to be a very resepectable darkey, told a straight story, upon which Judge Paxson fined Turner and his partner, a little darkey named Tyler, each enough to send them both to the House of Refuge for some time. Bodeley was released.

Thomas White and Mike Gordon were brought up for disturbing the peace of Twenty-third and O'fallon streets, about 2 o'clock. Mike Gordon was asleep in White's room when he came home and tried to put him out. Gordon took up a knife and made at White, who stopped him with a soda bottle, and cut his head pretty badly. Gordon seemed to be the aggressor and was fined $10.

Then came Julia Williams, a wild-looking frowzy negress who surpassed any negro minstrel caricature conceivable.

"Is your name Julia Williams," "Yes it is Dockstader?"

"You know the charge against you?"

"I'm that and everything else and more. I ain't no good nohow."

Judge Paxson told the bundle of rags and filth and frowzy hair to go back to the cell and get sober. The black face comedy stride with which this deprayed specimen of humanity walked off was simply inimitable. Sames Eddy, a banjo-playing darkey who had shot at his wife, after being lectured by his wife from the stand was dned $600 for wife-beating.

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY. Mention of Treasurer Stephens

Name Calls Forth a Letter. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7,-The name of Lon V. Stephens, State Treasurer of Missouri, is being frequently mentioned by the Eastern politicians in connection with the position of the most important positions in connection with the Federal Government, ranking close to a Cabinet portfolio. An Eastern politician and banker stated yesterday to your reporter:

"If Stephens applies for the position of Comptroller of the Currency I believe he can get it. He is well known in New York, where he has placed many issues of Western securities. Wnile wealthy, he is known to be conservative and in sympathy with Cleveland's financial ideas. Our people have great confidence in his financial judgment. We were not surprised at the record he made in winding up the affairs of the Fifth National Bank of St. Louis, of which bank he was appointed receiver without solicitation. We think the West is entitled to this position, and if New York doesn't present a candidate, we will indorse State Treasurer Stephens almost unanimously."

In this connection, perhaps, a letter from State Treasurer Stephens shown your correspondent yesterday would be of interest. The letter is dated at Jefferson City, Mo., and reads as follows:

MY DEAR FRIEND—I have your esteemed favor asking me whether I shall be a candidate for the with the Federal Government, ranking close

The letter is dated at Jefferson City, Mo., and reads as follows:

My Drar Friend—I have your esteemed favor asking me whether I shall be a candidate for the position of Comptroller of the Currency. I note jurther your suggestion. Allow me to say that I have appreciated very much the mention of my name for this important position by the Eastern press and the newspapers of Missouri. I am not an applicant for this position, have not been and will not be. I shall ask nothing of Mr. Cleveland for myself, but am taking great pleasure in indorsing friends who are applicants for favors from him. I have devoted my life to national banking. Have neld every position in a national banking from messenger to president. I have organized them examined them and believed have given general assistant on. I have entered into a cotract with our axis state. Treasurer, and it will be the height of my ambition to so administer the affairs of my office as to give general satisfaction. For a man of my age and as full of ambition and energy and life, I do not feel that the mention of my name in connection with this office can in any way injure me. If Mr. Cleveland can't do any worse and should offer me this place, it is not unlikely, if my friends at home looked upon it as I might, i would be persuaded to give the offer serious consideration. I was a stanch friend and supporter of Mr. Cleveland, and I hope I have his goodwill and confidence. Please do not allow it understood in Washington that I am an applicant for anything. If I were my friends would be notified and their indorsements colicited. Command me when I can serve you in Missouri and believe me your grateful friend.

Its chemical energy is much enhanced and an allotropic form of oxygen is there-sult. This allotropic oxygen has received the name of ozone. Sir Benjamin Brodie was the first to dem-onstrate its molecular triplet formula. Its peculiar odor is well known to every electrician and its use in the treatment of pulmonary disease has attracted the attention of our practicing physi-cians for many years, hence many patients are use in the treatment of pulmonary disease has attracted the attention of our practicing physicians for many years, hence many patients are sent to the higher altitudes, where it is usually found in large quantities. It was the knowledge of those facts that suggested to Prof. Wilson the peculiar electrical and chemical combination as found in his patented electro-chemics vaporitor, known all the world over under the name of Actina the name being derived from the actination.

Actina, the name being derived from the actinal ray of the sunbeam, which, as is well known is scientists, is the vegetative chemical ray which produces animal and vegetable life. We can therefore, with scientific propriety, designate "Actina" as the life giver.

The peculiar chemicals used never fall to keep up a constant supply of the health-giving and germ-destroying oxone, and we assert that germs of any form cannot live where the oxonic vapors of "Actina" are caused to act on the mucous membrane of any part of the animal sconemy. Under its influence the blind see, the deaf hear and every form of eye, ear, throat, lung and head troubles is always cured where "Actina" is used as directed. Catarrh, hay fever and kindred forms of disease never fail to succumb to this wonderful pocket hattery. Uselie as all times and in all places by callidren or adults.
